Washington, March 10, 1854. The adjourned inquest in this extraordinary case was held this morning in the guard room of the jail, the room in which the deceased breathed his last, and in which the post mortem examination was made. Besides the Coroner and jurors there were present Drs. Thomas Miller, Grafton Tyler, Joshua Riley, Alexander J. Semmes, Wm. Du Humel, and Paniel Breed, (Chemical Examiner of the United States Patent Office,) and Lewis H. Steiner, (Professor of Chemistry in the National Medical College;) also, Jos. H. Bradley and J. M. WASHINGTON, D. C., March 10, 1864. )

TO THOMAS WOODWARD, CORONER, AND P. BARTON KEY, DISTRICT ATTORNEY, D. C.—
Gentlemen—Having, in conformity with your instructions, instituted a careful investigation of the contents of the stomach of the late Dr. Geo. A. Gardner, and also of the powder found in his pocket—both submitted to us by you on the 4th inst.—we hereby report that in the stomach we have detected substances affording the chemical reaction characteristic of strychnine and brucine; and from the large portion of the contents of the stomach not yet completely analyzed, we are convinced that these virulent poisons are present in quantity more than sefficient to have produced death.

The powder found in the pocket of the deceased, has proved to be "commercial strychnine," or, chemically, a mixture of that poison with brucine. According to the tests for these alkaloids, as given by the most eminent taxicologists, the weight of this powder is ninety-five million grammes.

We would also mention that we have found in the stomach several pieces of paper, one of which was folded in the manner in which druggists warp up powders.

POST MORTEM EXAMINATION OF THE BODY.

As everything connected with this unfortunate affair has now become a matter of general public interest, we give below the following additional facts:—

The post mortem examination was not commenced until ten o'clock the following morning. By the kindness of one of the gentlemen who was present, I have been furnished with the following notes, as they wer taken at the time:—

In regard to the above examination the following In regard to the above examination the following opinion was given by.

Dr. Thomas Miller.—I did not see Gardner until ten or fifteen minutes after his death, and then with Dr. Semmes. I never saw a case in which the organs were more healthy. He seems to have taken very little mourishment, as the intestinal canal was very much contracted. In regard to the cause of his death—though I have never seen nor made an examination of a case of death from strychnine, from knowledge derived in other modes, and from the symptoms exhibited in this case, I should say that death was the result of the agency of strychnine, or an agent of like nature. In the absence of strychnine detected in the stomach I am unable to account for the phenomena exhibited in this case. I would not be willing to swear whether the death was from strychnine or mental agitation, though I believe it was from strychnine. As corroborative of this opinion I would instate the remarkable rigidity of the body after death, the sensitiveness of the patient during life, to light, cold, touch, &c.—the throwing himself backwards, together with the convulsions (lock jaw) described by the witnesses. If he had died from excessive agitation, the tissue of the brain, in my opinion, would have been congested. In cases of poisoning by strychnine the patient is generally sensible in the intervals of the convulsions. If I had seen the first symptoms in the case, or performed the autopsy with a knowledge of the symptoms, I should say that strychnine was the cause of death. My strong impression is that he died from strychnine. I shall be very much surprised if strychnine be not found in the stomach. Being subsequently recalled, I further testified that Mr. Eradley (one of deceased's counsel) took a paper, containing a white powder, in my presence, from Gardner's pocket after his death, which he handed to me, and which again I handed to Dr. Semmes, physician of the jail, to be analyzed.

REMARKS OF THE REFORTER.

I stood among all the learned sons of Esculapius, and although there seemed to be a common agreement there was a commen difference—in other words, perhaps, a strife of contention as to the palm of superier knowledge as to the effects of this extraordinary poison. Some said the symptoms were thus—others that they were thus, and to get at the exact difference was impossible by any mathematics. The result was that they agreed; and it is now universally understood that the whole thing is—"A little diminutive fraud on Mexico." to swear whether the death was from strychn

FRAUDS ON THE GOVERNMENT—CONVICTION AND

FRAUDS ON THE GOVERNMENT—CONVICTION AND DEATH OF DOCTOR GEORGE A. GARDNER.

Poctor George A. Gardner, the dentist, who, it is alleged received the sum of upwards of four hundred thousand dollars at the hands of the courmission that adjusted the claims of our citizens against Mexico, under the provisions of the treaty of Guadalupe Hidalgo, for losses which he claimed to have sustained in being obliged to abanden certain gold mines in the United Mexican States, which money, it is proved, was fraudulently obtained, was convicted, in the Circuit Court for the District of Columbia, last Friday. As soon as the verdict of the jury was awarded, Dr. Gardner felt the warm pressure of the hands of Mr. Marakal Wallach, who took him into custody. He was forthwith taken before Mr. Justice Crawford, who sentenced him to ten years imprisonment in the peniterdiary at Greenleaf's Point. As the "ladies and gentlemen" who are admitted to that seminary of polite education are usually put to the shoemaking business, the Doctor will probably be left to discharge the office of mender of soles for the next ten years. The penitentiary at Greenleaf's Point is in a beautiful location, overlooking the Potome, and holding in the distance Mount Vernon, the Capitol of the United States, Washington's Monument, Mrs. Anna Royal's printing office, and the Alexandria viaduct. The view thas presented would indeed be most beautiful if the Doctor could only see it from his cell. It is tucky the Poctor was not convicted the last year; for, had he been, he would have been compelled to listen to the spiritual discourses of the Rev. Charles Denison, who was then chaplain of the prison. By the intervention of Prime Providence, and the administration, he will now escape so terrible an infliction, as Brother Denison has gone to take possession of the consulate at Demarara.

The Doctor, under the regime of Fillinore and the Galphins, swindled the government of the charles Denison, who was then chaplain of the prison. By the intervention of Prime Providence, a fit subject for ridicule, considering the manner in which it had been conducted, presented a tragic and a melancholy aspect.

After he had been committed to the jail of Washington, preparatory to his removal to the penitentiary, he was found dead in the cell, having, it is probable, committed suicide. He was observed to drink a glass of what was supposed to be water, but which it is now thought contained a deadly poison. And thus ended the career of this misguided man. In prosecuting his cause before the Mexican Commission—a Commission which was always looked upon with distrust, because of its evident eagerness to exhaust the ten millions of dollars placed at its discretion—he was aided by Mr. Thomas Corwin, Mr. Waddy Thompson, Mr. Edward Curtis, and Major Lally, who acted as his counsellors and advocates. Mr. Corwin, at the time he entered the service of Br. Gardner, was a member of the Senate of the United States, which office he resigned to accept the place of Secretary of the Treasury. On his accepting that post, he abandoned his connection with Gardner, and sold his anticipated claim on the money received by Gardner to Mr. George Law, of this city, for eighty thoursand dollars cash, which was paid on the spot. Mr. Edward Curtis, Mr. Waddy Thompson and Major Lally received large fees; and as two hundred thoursand dedlors of the original amount allowed Gardner by the commission were withheld by Mr. President Fillmore after the charge of fraud had been set up, to meet the issue, it is probable that the original claimant received but an inconsiderable amount of the "spoils" awarded him. Independently of this, his counsel fees were paid out of the money he had pocketed, and $40,000 were deposited to secure his bail. It is urged that the government ought now to institute actions against the agents of Gardner, who prosecuted his claim before the Commission, and compel them to pay back the sums they received. Although it may be true that they are legally liable to action, and might be compelled to make restituti tion if the affair were confined to individuals, and the government had no hand in it, we very much doubt if prosecutions were commenced against them if good money would not be wasted in pursuit of bad. If judgments were obtained against the counsel of Gardner, they would stand in relation to the government in a position similar to that which is occupied by defaulters, and who similar to that which is occupied by defaulters, and who state to liquidation?

Of this State, or a first of the interval of the pursuing his vocation as all binerent quasarabut syears old at the time of his death, and, it is said, was about to be married to a young lady of Georgetown, in the listrict of Columbia. An action for perjury is still pending against his brother, who was implicated in the fraud. He is at large on bail, and whether he will meet his trial or forfeit his recognizance, remains to be seen. The probability is that he will make good his secape.

Dector Gardner, the deceased, was orignally put on his trial upwards of a year ago. After two or three months had been exhausted the case was given to the jury, who reported they could not agree, and were discharged. A second trial was commenced two months ago: and, but for an act of folly on the part of the accused, it is possible he might have been acquitted. Whilst his trial was progressing a bundle in a "yellow paper," containing very important testimony against him, mysteriously disappeared. It was alleged and believed that he stole and destroyed the papers. This act produced a very decided outside pressure against the accused, which it is highly probable reached the jury. In concocting his fraudulent designs against the treasury Dr. Gardner, from abstruse and voluminous character, it is very certain must have been aided by an extensive band of associate conspirators.

A TERRIBLE LESSON.

Dr. George A. Gardner was found dead in his room, at Washington, on Friday last, he having committed suicide by taking poison. The wretched deceased had just been convicted of a fraud upon the government, and sontenced to ten years hard labor in the penitentiary. His fraud was of a gigantic nature. He obtained, by means of forged documents and a mountain of lies, an award, (from a commission appointed to examine claims to the Mexican indemnity money,) of some four hundred thousand dollars. He set up that he had been the owner of a valuable mine in Mexico, which the Mexicans, in the late war with them, had broken up to his ruin, and with a loss to him, as he claimed, of over half a million of dellars. The loctor had been a wandering deatist in Mexico, where he was for many years. There he acquired its language, and possessed himself thoroughly of its geography. He explored the mining districts of San Louis Potes! Sonora, Guanjuato, &c. After the Mexican war he went to Washington, and was there engaged nearly a year in making up the necessary swindling documents—which he made up in Spanish and in English—to sustain his large "claim." The commission was completely humbuged by him, and it gave him the greater part of this claim. This was about three years ago. He thea goes to Europe, and "apreads himself." In the meantime, some kind friends hint at his fraud, and he is by and by brenght to trial, and his case is fought inch by inch; but justice overtakes him at last, as it did that gigantic swindler, Morroe Eliwards. He was convicted, and would even now be serving out his hard sentence in the penitentiary, but that he laid vicient hands upon his own life, and is at this moment lying in a convict and suicide's grave—a terrible lesson.

No case—not even that of the poor wretch Elwards—was ever fought harder. The Hisaato of yesterday t cocing commissions, that the mine was a myth, and the chaim a maked fraud. The trial for forgery was accordingly opened in December last, and the result is the fearful and terrible denoument recited in the opening of this narrative.

The telegraphic reports of yesterday say:—On entering the cell where Gardner was confined, he was observed to drink some water, throwing his head back, and it is supposed that he took a strychnine pill. He was seized with convulsions almost immediately. After giving a letter to Charles Gardner, his brother, he remarked that he was going before a Judge who would not pronounce him guilty and expired in great agony. He was 35 years old, had the education and manners of a gentleman, and was engaged to be married to a lady in Georgetown.

THE CASE OF DR. GARDNER.

The trial of Dr. George A. Gardner, who died yesterday, in the prison at Washington, as is supposed, by poison administered by his own hand, is so extraordinary, that it deserves a place in any collection which may hereafter be made of Remarkable Criminal Trials.

Our readers will remember that, by the treaty concluded with Mexico, about six years since, our government undertook to compensate the American citizens who had claims against Mexico for injuries done to their property by the Mexicans during the war. Somewhat more than three millions of dellars were appropriated for this purpose, and a Beard of Commissioners was appointed to decide upon the claims for indemnity which should be presented. A large number of claimants appeared in consequence.

Among these was Dr. Gardner, who demanded half a million of dellars, or thereabouts, for the breaking up of a promising enterprise in which he had been engaged. He hald before the Commissioners was appointed to decide upon the claims for indemnity which should be presented. A large number of claimants appeared in consequence.

Among these was Dr. Gardner, who demanded half a million of dellars, or thereabouts, for the breaking up of a promising e

AMERICAN BAPTIST MISSIONARY UNION—MONTHLY INTELLIGENCE.

The tidings of four deaths of members of the missions have been received within the month. The announcement in the case of three of them reached the Missionary Rooms the same day. The persons deceased are, Rev. H. E. Knapp and Mrs. Rose, of the Arracan mission, and Mrs. Shermer and Mrs. Rose of the mission to the Bassas, in West Africa. These deaths all occurred within three months of each other. The two la ter persons had left this country within a year. During the last twelve months six missionaries of different denominations have died in Africa, and eight have been obliged to return to America.

died in Africa, and eight have been obliged to return to America.

At Maulmain, Moung Shway A. has been ordained paster of the Burnese church, formerly under care of Dr. Wade. Three of the missionaries, Dr. Wade, and Messrs. Haswell and Stevens, participated in the ceremonies, besides Pah Poo, the Karen pastor.

Mr. Bennett, at Tavoy, states that the Karen Bible is completed, and is undoubtedly the cheapest Bible ever printed in India. Mr. Thomas mentions that the native preachers had been gathered by him, for a month past, for the purpose of receiving further instruction. They studied the Messlande passages in the Old Testament, and their fulfilment in the new, besides receiving some need-cid instruction on the principles of church order and discipline.

The work of the mission goes forward encouragingly at ed instruction on the principles of church order and discipline.

The work of the mission goes forward encouragingly at Rangoon. The congregations are large and attentive, and the schools interesting. Three persons asked baptism on the 20th of November Lest. Mr. Kincaid was expecting scon to depart for his new station at, or near, Prome. The new city of Rangoon bids fair to be the second, if not the first, city in India. The famine was at an end.

At the Karen Ministerial Conference, held four times a year, the native preachers reported 130 baptisms since their last meeting. This conference held its recent session at Passein.

Dr. Mason writes from his new station, Toung-oo, October 22, that he had accomplished the journey safely, and with improved health. The country on the route from Maulmain was more thickly peopled with Karena than any he had seen, besides many Burman and Taling villages. The Karena seem ripe to receive Christianity almost in a mass. He was kindly received by the officers of Toung-oo, and two influential Burmans have already openly declared their renunciation of idolatry.

Mr. Johnson, at Hong Kong, communicates a notice of the baptism of three Chinese converts—a young man, and two members of Mrs. J.'s boarding-school, of the agas of initieen and fourteen respectively.

At Ningpo, Mr. Goddar! was laboring on the Chinese translation. In the New Testament he had reached the middle of the Apocalypse, which he expected to finish in the ceurse of a month, when he would resume his labors on the Old Testament.

Mr. Arnoli writes from Athens, Greece, that his new chapel was opened Jan. 12. There is a spirit of inquiry among the people. Light is spreading, and all subjects are freely discussed. An Athenian paper lately published an article calling in question the piety of the national church, and clearly drawing a distinction between this religion in name and true Christianity. A pamphlet has lately appeared, written by an eminent lawyer, being the substance of lectures delivered by him to the law s martial spirit of the Greeks. It is no wonder that they had the prospect of the overthrow of the indidel power whose yoke has so long resied with oppressive weight upon their necks.

The Baptist Christians in the department de l'Aisne, in October last, presented to the Emperor a memorial praying for religious toleration. They were permitted to real their petition in the imperial presence, which was listened to attentively, and the Emperor declared himself a lover of liberty of worship. The petition was handlet to 'Ae Minister of Worship; but thus far, after an interval of two months, nothing has been heard from it.

At Elberfeld, in Gemany, some excitement 'Ass been produced by the secession of a Reformed clery man from the State church, and his declaration in fave of the principles of the Baptists.

MONEY MARKET.

SATURDAY, March 11—6 P. M.

There was a heavy, dull, depressed stock market this morning. Quovations for nearly every fancy on the list show a decline, but speculators for a rise bought largely on time—both buyer's and seller's option. The bears availed themselves of the depreciation to make up some of their shorts. At the first board, Cumberland Coaldeclined ½ per cent; Potomac Copper, ½; Reading Railroad, ½; Michigan S. Construction stock, ½; Cleveland and Toledo, ¼; New Haven, ½; Stonington, 1! Norwich and Worcester, ½. Michigan Central Railroad advanced ½ per cent; Parker Vein, ½. At the second board, the market was no better, so far as prices were concerned, but a better feeling prevailed, and it was the impression that another week would show a more favorable state of things. The cause of the recent decline in able state of things. The cause of the recent decline in prices and present heaviness in the market is entirely local, but it is of such a character that it cannot be but temporary. We allude to the calls lately made by the banks for demand loans.

The American Exchange Bank is the agent of Messrs. Palmer, Cook & Co. in New York, and to this institution the remittances were made. Why the money was not paid over by this institution I am unable to say. In due course of mail it should have been received by them previous to the day of payment.
